Other Opportunities

Search for Children of Ordained Southern Baptist Women

Faculty members at Oregon State University in Sociology and Women Studies are conducting research about children of ordained Southern Baptist Women. They would like to talk to adults (over 18 years of age) who were children during the time in which their mother was ordained and serving in ministry as a Southern Baptist. They are especially interested in participants who were children during the early 1970's-the mid 1990's. If you have a child or know of someone who meets these criteria, please email Susan Shaw at sshaw@oregonstate.edu with her/his name and contact information so she or he can be invited to participate.

Congratulations
